From the Flying Post:

Hague, Oct. 20.

S I R,

TIS just the same with us as 'tis with you; never was there less News, and never more News-Papers. Among others we have one lately sprung up at Cologn, which is call'd Le Nouvelliste sans Fard, or Gazette sans Privilege, i. e. The Undisguised News Writer, or the Unauthorized Gazette. That which is N. IV. and dated the 20th of this Instant complains of the Latin, Dutch, and French Gazettes published at Cologn, that their Style is barbarous and unintelligible, and their Subject Trash and Trumpery. He is altogether as capricious with the French Gazettes printed here in Holland, and says he finds little or nothing in them to his Purpose: those being generally the principal Articles of their News, viz. That the Duke of Orleans came in the Morning from Versailles to Paris, and was to go back again at Night from Paris to Versailles; That the Infanta Queen thinks the King very pretty, and is more in love with the Original than with the Picture; That his Majesty is perfectly recovered of his Surfeit, and a thousand other Advice of the same Kind, which are enough to turn the Reader's Brain. Therefore, says our Author, command me before all to the honest French Gazetteer at Leyden, who often tells us, with his usual Eloquence and Frankness, and makes it an Article of News, That the Letters from Paris say there is nothing considerable stirring.

After our Author has bantered the Inhabitants of Holland and Zealand, for declaring that they never will have a Stadholder, because they find by arithmetical Calculation, that such an Officer would do them more Harm than Good, he proceeds to be merry with the Emperor's new East Iddia Company.

Apollo, says he, whose Oracle is very sincere, has foretold it, and it must be so: The Ostenders shall fail for the Indies. They talk of equipping a Fleet of Three Ships, which they are to buy very quickly. They are not willing to have more at present, because they think too great a Number would be troublesome to them, like the Fox in the Fable, which would not eat the Grapes, because they were not ripe. This it is to be Wife. The stoutest of those three Ships of 300 Tons Burden, which they are to fill with the strong Beer of Louvain, to make the Sailors merry. The Company will send away the Deputies Proley and Kessel to thank the Emperor for his Grant, as soon as the Sums subscrib'd are actually paid; and when the said Payment is made, they will bespeak that Gold Coin called the Lira, of which the Company is to make the Emperor a Present. He adds, That the said Deputies have Orders to desire Leave of the Emperor to sell what the said Fleet brings from the Indies, in the Provinces of Flanders and Brabant alternately; and that the Magistrats of the Cities are to give Orders to all the Merchants to furnish their Warehouses with six Years Provisions, for Fear that the Fleet should be lost by the Way. The Actions of this same Comprny, says he, are come down to Nothing, on purpose to make the Purchase of them the easier, and their Circulation the brisker.

THEY write from Paris of the 3d of November, That the King had named Mr. d'Argenson Intendant of Perpignan, to go Ambassador to Constantinople, to relieve Mr. de Bonac, who is now there. From whence they write, That the Designs of the Turks in the present Juncture, seem only to send Assistance to Meriweys, and not to come openly to a Rupture with the Czar; who, as the Letters from Muscovy advise, has actually sent General Czaremetoff to Constantinople, and that he is to take his Way thro' the Czar's Conquests in Persia, who are so well provided, as to be in a Condition to baffle all the Enterprizes that Meriweys might form against them. Besides which, the Muscovite Governor there, having received another Reinforcement, and joined the Sophi's Army, which consists of 40000 Men, will be enabled to make head against Meriweys, and give him Battle.

We are to add to the Account given at the Close of our Last, from Madrid, That his Catholic Majesty has made the Marquis de St. Michael, a Lord of his Bed-chamber, in Reward for the new Settlement he has made in the Philippine Islands in the East Indies, of 240 Leagues in Circumference, where he has caus'd 4 Fortresses to be built, and lodg'd a good Garrison in each of them, and repair'd six Churches of the Missionaries there, and erected 3 new ones, and all at his own Charge.

A D V E R T I S E M E N T S.

A COMPOUND for improving of Land, which for it's Virtue, surpasses any Thing that has yet appeared, impregnating the Seeds, of every Kind of Corn, to such a Degree, as scarce any single Grain misgives, whereby Half the Quantity of Seed usually taken will suffice; and from that Half sown, an Increase is to be expected, modestly speaking, Double, if not Triple of what the full Seed would otherwise produce; and yet is so far from weakening, That it nourishes the Ground, and puts it in a much better Condition than it was before; And operating not only upon a rich Soil, but serving in Place of Dung, has also a surprising Effect upon the Coldest and Poorest Grounds, where no Dung is used: Of such a Quality as it may be kept for a Term of Years without losing it's Virtue. Is made by Robert Geddes Chirurgeon Apothecary in Edinburgh, and sold only at the Laigh Coffee-House there. Price 1 s. a Chopin Bottle.

The Method of preparing the Seed by the Compound.

Pour a Bottle of the Compound upon a Peck of Seed, of any kind of Corn, and so proportionably less or more; according to the Quantity of Seed to be sown, without any other Mixture whatsoever; let the Seed be immediately moved, or turned over in the Vessel, so as it may be all equally wet by the Compound; continue to move or turn it over, at least once every Half-Hour, for the Space of four Hours; that it may drink the Compound wholly up; And whenever the Seed is so dry, as it does separate well enough in the Hand for sowing, let it be sown into the Ground; and cause harrow the Ground without Loss of Time.

N. B. The Inventer of this Composition makes it easy to try the Experiment, confident of the Virtue of the Compound; he proposes the Simplest Method of using it. Mere Pretenders usually leave much to be done by those they prescribe to, that when their Experiments fail, they may have a Handle left them, to throw the Blame from off themselves.
